If the Emperor of China has 300 cooks, as reported, it is no wonder the poor fellow looks as frazzled out as he does.

A bill has been introduced in the Kentucky Legislature requiring barbers in that State to register. But nothing is said about requiring them to wear muzzles.

According to the millionaire census there are 4,000 of them, scattered over this country. But some of them are poor fellows, who haven't more than a million or two.

There is a variety of sweet potato grown in Louisiana which pans out 1,072 bushels per acre, but there is a Georgia man who steps ahead of that with a tuber which yields 1,445 bushels.

Dr. Browning, of Philadelphia, who put in a claim for $190,000 for treating the late C. L. Magee, of Pittsburg, thinks he has as much use for that money as anybody, as the dead man has no further use for it.

It is said that Mr. Dryden, elected U. S. Senator from New Jersey, has from boyhood found recreation in figuring out mathematical conundrums, and can solve the most difficult problems offhand. He figured pretty well on that Senate problem, anyway.

The New Orleans Picayune, a capital paper in every respect, has entered on its 66th year. It was started in 1837 by two printers, one from North Carolina, the other from New Hampshire. They are both dead, but the Picayune is very much alive.

The official statement of the business of Steel Trust last years hows a profit of $100,000,000. It has now on its books contracts for 2,500,000 tons of steel rails, on which the profit will be $10 a ton. But Hanna says the Trust must have tariff protection.

The Senate Committee on Forest Preservation has reported favorably on the bill asking for an appropriation of $5,000,000 to purchase 2,000,000 acres of land, in the Appalachian regions of North and South Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee to establish an Appalachian park and care for it.

St. Louis has an Aldermanic scandal. The Board passed a bill granting certain franchises to a street railway to run in Forest Park, where the Exposition is to be held, for which it promised to pay $135,000, and then when it got the franchise the mean company refused to fork over.

INJUNCTION MODIFIED

THE ARGUMENT WAS HEATED

Company to Give $15,000 Bond for Restoration of Streets, But Aldermen Still Enjoined From Passage of Ordinance—A Compromise

[Special Star Telegram.]

LOUISBURG, N. C., Jan. 31.—The injunction of the Sewerage Company against Mayor Waddell and the Board of Aldermen of the City of Wilmington was argued here before Judge E. W. Timberlake by Geo. L. Peschau and E. K. Bryan, Esqs., for the Sewerage Company and Junius Davis and Marsden Bellamy, Esqs., for the city. The arguments were spirited and occupied the entire afternoon.

The injunction, though modified, is continued and the resolution introduced recently by the Aldermen is still enjoined.

The Sewerage Company is required to give a fifteen thousand dollar bond before excavating further, however. It is considered a compromise judgment with the odds in favor of the sewerage people.

The above is the latest from the "seat of war," as Judge Timberlake's court at Louisburg was humorously dubbed by those who anxiously awaited developments in the injunction matter yesterday.

While the news is somewhat disappointing to the large number of citizens who hoped for a complete dissolution of the restraining order, it is, without a doubt, the very best that the able counsel for the city could have done under the circumstances and it is believed that the "verdict" will be general accepted with satisfaction by the city, which only contended for some measure that would absolutely guarantee a restoration of the streets to the same condition as they were before the excavations were made.

The movement to have the Sewerage Company give a bond was inaugurated by Alderman George Harriss some time ago and he introduced several ordinances with this end in view, but each of them was turned down like a hot brick by other members of the board who feared that in the passage of an ordinance providing for a bond they would be "recognizing" the Sewerage Company, which "recognition" they claimed they had not hitherto conferred.

Yesterday Alderman Harriss and other members of the Board secured signatures of a large number of business men to a telegram to Judge Timberlake stating that the streets had not been restored and the city needed relief. One such telegram as to the condition of the thoroughfares is reported to have been sent by the Superintendent of Streets. An Alderman who had hitherto given a favorable impression as to the restoration of the streets, in a communication to Judge Timberlake, is also reported to have later qualified his statement by telegraphing to the city's counsel that his knowledge of the work was solely upon information and not upon personal investigation.

All these telegrams are believed to have had great weight with Judge Timberlake and were no doubt potent factors in the modification of the injunction.

As stated in these columns yesterday morning, upon the appearance of Messrs. Bellamy and Davis before Judge Timberlake Thursday, he immediately notified the counsel of the Sewerage Company that its work must stop, pending an adjudication of the matter. This order was strictly complied with yesterday by the contractors and their large force of laborers was "laid off" with the exception of two or three squads which were employed in the work of restoration.

The Aldermen wore a smile of supreme satisfaction as they greeted their constituents yesterday and news from Louisburg was eagerly awaited. It is very probable that the attorneys will return to the city this evening and a special meeting of the city council seems inevitable for to-night. However, the matter may be postponed until the regular session on Monday evening when as lively a time as ten Aldermen and four lawyers can make may be expected.

In addition to the special given above, a private telegram was received last night from Messrs. Bellamy and Davis which stated: "Judge modified injunction against defendants and enjoins plaintiff from excavations until it gives $15,000 bond."

The telegram means that not another clod of earth can be turned until the bond is executed and duly approved by the Board of Audit and Finance.

FAMOUS GREEN SWAMP LANDS

Motion to Continue Restraining Order Will be Heard in Raleigh Monday.

A large number of Brunswick and Columbus county citizens are expected here Monday on their way to Raleigh to attend a hearing before Judge Purnell in reference to the famous Green Swamp land suit, which has been in the court for years. The suit is brought by the New Jersey and North Carolina Land and Lumber Company against the Gardner-Lacy Lumber Company and forty four Brunswick and Columbus real estate owners, who have sold timber to the principal defendant.

On Dec. 12th, last year, upon motion of Messrs. Meares & Ruark, of this city, attorneys for the plaintiff, Judge Purnell appointed Mr. A. T. Clark, of Columbus, receiver of the property in question, and also issued a restraining order preventing the cutting of timber or trespassing upon the lands involved. The question of making this order permanent will be heard Monday. The plaintiff is under bond for $2,000 for the prosecution of the matter and Receiver Clark has given $500 bond for the faithful performance of the duties imposed.

MERRY MINSTRELS ARE COMING.

Something of the Burnt Cork Artists With Richards and Pringle

The coming of Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels to the Opera House Monday night marks one of the most interesting amusement events booked here this season, so it is claimed by the management. This firm of ambitious amusement managers, it is said, seems to be radical expansionists, for each succeeding season their organization increases in size and expands in every conceivable way.

The world famous Billy Kersands; James Moore, the grotesque comedian, is seen in the latest darky essence song and dance; the musical artists, Bailey & Spiller; Toledo, the juggler; Clarence Powell, the up-to-date black jester; Tio Kitchie, the Japanese equilibrist; Cooper and his wooden figures; Moore & Thomas, the side-walk jesters; Craig, the boneless wonder; and many others, closing with the uproariously funny after piece, "The Darktown Policy Players." Seats now on sale at Gerken's.

Pounded Their Chaplain.

A large number of carpenters and joiners, of Local Union No. 899, visited Mr. Charles Kriner, their chaplain, last night with a bountiful supply of groceries, ranging from a pound of sugar to a sack of flour, and a nice load of wood to cook the same. Mr. J. R. Davis, Jr., stated the object of the visit, to which Mr. Kriner, with much feeling, responded. Mr. Kriner is just convalescing from a severe attack of la grippe, and, of course, a pounding from his shop mates was much appreciated.

The Peanut Situation in Halifax.

Roanoke News: "Halifax county grows the Spanish peanut almost exclusively and the crop last year was just about one-half of what was expected. The State farms lost nearly their entire crop by freshets and farmers generally report that the crop was very short. The same conditions appear to have existed in other peanut sections. Some of the Halifax county farmers who have heretofore planted peanuts say they will not plant them at all this year, while others may become encouraged by the prospects of higher prices in the future and plant increased acreage."

THE POULTRY SHOW.

Many Additional Entries of Fine Birds Were Made Yesterday for the Fair.

MANAGERS MET LASL NIGHT

Eighty-one Fine Birds From South Carolina Will be Brought Over and Hundreds Will Come From This State—Arrangements.

"The Poultry and Pet Stock show next week is going to exceed all our expectations," said a prominent member of the Executive Committee of the Wilmington Poultry and Live Stock Association yesterday.

"The exhibits are going to be numerous and of a very fine order," he continued. "Fact is, the only question with the Association now is how it is to handle everything."

An enthusiastic meeting of the fair promoters was held last night and final details for the opening next week were arranged. Secretary Armstrong reported that entries had come in the past few days at an exceedingly lively rate and indications are that the City Hall, where the fair is to be held, will be taxed to its utmost capacity.

The show will open to the public at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and will remain open each day at convenient hours until Friday at 11 P. M. The judges will begin their work early Tuesday morning, and to this end the management is insisting promptness upon the part of every exhibitor. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged the public and something interesting in poultry and pet stock is assured. The exhibits by local fanciers promise to be exceedingly good.

Yesterday Superintendent Will Bonitz spent his time in securing evergreens for decorating the hall and today carpenters will begin constructing skeleton benches upon which to arrange the coops.

An entry of 81 fine birds was received yesterday from South Carolina and the North State exhibit will be even larger. Some fine hounds and other dogs with a number of pet rabbits of all varieties have also been entered and this department will be watched with much interest by many.

Arrangements have been made to keep the show open until after the theatre performances next week and by this convenience many will take occasion to visit the hall adjoining before returning home.

ENTERPRISING WILMINGTONIANS.

Improved Railway Gate Invented by Young Men Which Promises Well.

Messrs. George S. and Wm. D. Sumlin, of this city, yesterday received from their attorneys, Messrs. Evans Wilkens & Co., of Washington, D. C., letters patent for an improved railway gate, which they recently invented and which appears to be a serviceable and meritorious device. The letters patent date from Jan. 28th, 1902, and are for seventeen years.

The invention relates to railway gates adapted to serve as cattle guards and the object is to provide a pair of swinging gates adapted when closed to extend across a railway track in combination with improved mechanism so as to be operated by the flange of a car wheel, to unlock the gates and swing them open and providing means for automatically closing the same after the passage of a train.

The Messrs. Sumlin have not yet decided what they will do with their invention, but it appears very certain that they have a "good thing" and will profit largely by it.

SOLUTION FOR THE PROBLEM.

Editor Wilmington Star, City.

DEAR SIR:—About the sewerage muddle here, I think if the Sewerage Company would give a bond for double the amount it would take to put the streets in order after the excavations are made and filled up, then the city government should let them go ahead and finish their sewerage system as quick as possible. In the meantime, the city government should have an expert looking after the work carefully to see that it is done in a first class manner. I think this is all that is necessary, and if it could be done immediately, the Sewerage Company should agree to it and be satisfied and the city should be satisfied.

Yours, truly, D. L. GORE.

NORTH CAROLINA NAVAL HERO.

[Charlotte Observer, 31st.]

The last of the North Carolina Booklett series contains sketches of "A North Carolina Naval Hero and His Daughter," by Dr. K. P. Battle. The naval hero was Capt. Johnston Blakely, a native of Ireland, in his childhood and youth a resident of Wilmington, a student of the University of North Carolina and an officer of the United States navy. As commander of the Wasp, second ship of that name, in 1814, he captured and burned in the western entrance of the British Channel the British warship Reindeer having repelled her attempt to board his vessel and then boarding her, after desperate hand-to-hand fighting. All her officers were killed or wounded and the captain's clerk surrendered the prize. Blakely afterwards captured the Avon and the Atlanta and otherwise distinguished himself and his ship. The Wasp and her crew were never afterwards heard of and their mysterious fate is still a secret of the sea.

A daughter, Maria Udney Blakely, was born in 1815, and the mystery of her father's disappearance made the babe the centre of universal sympathy. The North Carolina Legislature, always economical to the point of parsimony, adopted her as the ward of the State—her mother lived in New England—and annually voted $400 for her education until 1829, when Mrs. Blakely married a gentleman of the Danish Island of St. Croix. Maria Udney married a Danish nobleman in 1841 and died with her infant son in 1842.

Both J. Fenimore Cooper and Theodore Roosevelt accord the highest praise to Capt. Blakely as an intrepid sea-fighter. He was only 33 years old when he met his mysterious fate.

OUR TEXTILE MILLS.

Although there was not as much mill building in North Carolina last year as the year previous, and some of the mill men say it was not a profitable year for many of them, still there was progres and progress that would have been more noticeable if the progress in preceding years had not been so great. In the number of her textile establishments this State leads all the Southern States and all the other States, although Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia have some larger mills and Georgia and South Carolina lead in the number of spindles. The Commissioner of Labor and Printing has issued his advance report for last year the substance of which is thus given by the Raleigh News and Observer:

"The advance report gives most gratifying figures as to the increase in the various mills of the State, and shows conditions to be most healthy for a further increase.

"Last year's report gave the total number of textile mills in the State as 261, but in this there was included 37 then in course of construction, with their looms and spindles. If these 37 were counted in the increse this year, the figures would be still a more gratifying.

Cotton Mills	226
Woolen Mills	11
Knitting Mills	41
Carpet Mills	1
Jute Bagging Mills	1
Silk Mills	3
Total	283

"In 1900 the number of spindles in use was put at 1,481,771. This year there are 1,694,163, an increase of 212,392.

"In 1900 there were 33,289 looms, while the number at this time is 36,126, an increase of 2,837.

"In the knitting mills there are now in use 3,814 machines, as against 2,048 in 1900, a gain of 1,766 machines.

"The hours of labor for the operatives run from ten and ten and a half in the knitting mills up to eleven to twelve and a half in the cotton mills. Notwithstanding an agreement that was made during the last Legislature, that the hours of work in cotton mills should held to eleven hours, the commissioner's report shows that in some twelve hours and a half of labor is the rule. The commissioner is not informed whether or not any of the mills entering into an agreement are using these longer hours.

"The number of operatives now employed is as follows: 18,171 men, an increase of twenty-one per cent. over 1900; 18,377 women, an increase of fifteen per cent.; 7,996 children under fourteen, an increase of five per cent.

"Of the adults employed in the mills, there are eighty-two per cent. who can read and write, this being the same as last year. Of the children sixty-five per cent. read and write, showing a decrease of three per cent.

"The full report of the Commissioner by counties is nearly ready and will be issued shortly."

As a general showing this is a good one, but there are too many children in the mills and too many who, judging from the percentage of those who cannot read or write, who are not getting the benefit they should of schooling. This is not the fault of the mill operators nor perhaps the fault of the parents of the children, but it is the fault of some one. A school should be a part of the equipment, so to speak, of every mill, for the more intelligent the labor is the more useful and the more profitable it is. Even the adult operatives, eighteen per cent. of whom cannot, according to this report, read or write, might avail themselves of the benefit of these schools and be willing to help pay for them.

At the last meeting of the Manufacturers' Association in Charlotte, its president, Dr. McAden, recommended something of this kind and urged the mill owners to take an active interest in the schooling of their people as one of the means of bettering their condition.

It may be incidentally remarked that there are few States in which the relations between the mill operators and the operatives are more harmonious, and few where there has been less effort to regulate those relations by legislative enactment, which so often fails in its purpose because misdirected or shaped by men who do not fully understand the matters which they undertake to regulate by law.

Child labor in the mills is now engaging the attention of the South Carolina Legislature where a bill has been introduced prohibiting the employment of children under ten years of age—a very proper restriction, for a child under that age should not be required to perform daily labor, and we doubt even if it should be required to spend much of each day in school. Under that age it should be play and sunshine with them, with just enough of books not to be irksome. Schools should not be nurseries and mills should not be the stunters of childhood.

As North Carolina has the lead in the number of textile establishments she will doubtless hold it, for if textile manufacturing be profitable anywhere it will be in this State, for the simple reason that here are presented all the natural advantages that can be found anywhere, and more water power than can be found within the same area anywhere on the continent. With a watershed extending through nearly the entire length of the State, from the northeast to the southwest, discharging the rainfall into the Atlantic on one side and the Mississippi on the other, it forms streams of unfailing and practically boundless power, which will be supplemented when desirable with electric plants to convey their power to mills remote from them, thus widening their sphere of potency and usefulness. It will not be many years before there will be electric power plants on numbers of these streams, furnishing power to drive machinery many miles distant from them.

This method of adding to the motive power of these streams is still in its infancy, but it will yet be a great factor in multiplying the textile industries of this State and keeping them well at the front, and not only these but numerous other industries, which will give employment to our people, help develop our resources and add to the prosperity and wealth of the State, which ought to be and will be one of the greatest manufacturing States in the Union.

SECRETARY ROOT'S PLEA.

In his plea for "justice to Cuba" Secretary of War, Root, among other things, says:

"Aside from the moral obligation to which we committed ourselves when we drove Spain out of Cuba, and aside from the ordinary consideration of the commercial advantage involved in a reciprocity treaty, there are the weightiest reasons of American public policy pointing in the same direction; for the peace of Cuba is necessary to the peace of the United States; the health of Cuba is necessary to the health of the United States; the independence of Cuba is necessary to the safety of the United States. The same considerations which led to the war with Spain now require that a commercial arrangement be made under which Cuba can live."

This is well enough as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough, and it doesn't state the fact that much of Cuba's present and prospective embarassment is the result of American handicapping after we had driven the Spaniards out and secured a foothold on the island. By forcing the Platt Amendment upon her we practically made her an appendage of the United States and deprived her of the power to map out and pursue her own destiny. She can make no treaty with any other country without the approval of the United States and can do little of anything else of importance without that approval. Under these circumstances and this handicapping Cuba is no more an independent country than are the Hawaiis or Porto Rico.

The result is Cuba is absolutely dependent upon this country and the policies that may be adopted bearing upon our trade with her, for whatever prosperity she may have. No wonder that under these circumstances there is among the best people of the island a strong and a growing sentiment for annexation to this country, which they believe, and correctly believe, the shortest, most satisfactory and effective solution of that problem. This is the only way by which our trade relations with Cuba can be definitely settled and put beyond the pale of agitation and tinkering.

DIDN'T SPEND $80,000.

Mr. John W. McDonald, of New York, writes THE STAR that Perry Belmont did not spend $80,000, as alleged, in his recent race for Congress, but under $15,000, according to his sworn statement of expenditures. "Nearly all of this amount was for the legitimate expenses of several Democratic factions." Mr. McDonald says the district is not an overwhelmingly Democratic one, having been previously several times carried by Republicans, and that Mr. Belmont was defeated because he did not have the "financial or loyal support of the regular Democratic organization, at that time under the control of a leader who has since presumably abdicated the scepter," by which he means Mr. Croker, who shortly after that surrendered to Mr. Nixon and sailed for Europe.

This, in addition to the fact that it was a special election and not a holiday, when it was hard to get the working men, who constitute 80 per cent. of the party in that district, to the polls, while his Republican competitor spent $1,000, had the support of the Republican organization which collected campaign tribute from the Federal office holders, and spent $20,000, Mr. McDonald says accounts for Mr. Belmont's defeat. He was defeated by 389 votes, which considering what he had to contend against in his own party, and buck up against in the other, wasn't so very bad.

Ex-Governor Shaw, of Iowa, who takes Secretary Gage's place, bought some fine diamonds for his wife the other day and wanted to show them to some visitors, at his home in Des Moines, but when he went to get them they had disappeared. Mrs. Shaw was not at home, and he suspected a servant girl of stealing them and had her searched. About that time Mrs. Shaw arrived on the scene and produced the diamonds from one of her old shoes. Then he apologized to the girl and paid her $10. Now that the burglar men know where Mrs. Shaw keeps her diamonds they will have a soft thing.

GREAT BRITAIN RESPONSIBLE

Collier's Weekly recently give a dinner, in New York, at which its war correspondents were guests of honor. Among the invited guests was Andrew Carnegie, who did not go, but sent a message as follows:

"The killing of men by men under the name of war is the foulest blot upon humanity to-day. We see much discussion as to what is or what is not permissible under civilized warfare. My view is that this is a contradiction of terms. There can be no such thing as civilized warfare. We have made little progress in the path of genuine civilization, as long as we can find no better substitute for the settling of international disputes than the brutal murder of one another. As a general proposition, it may be stated that the nation which refuses peaceful arbitration is responsible for the war which ensues. Britain having done this in its dispute with the Transvaal Republic, is responsible for the extermination of a brave and heroic Christian people."

Andrew Carnegie does not belong to the Quaker denomination, but the sentiments expressed show that while he has a head for business he also has a heart which feels for humanity, and pleads against that brutality and barbarity of war. In putting the responsibility for the war against the Boers on the British Government he doubtless voices the sentiments of seven-eights of the civilized world, and yet, to the shame of the civilized nations be it said, not one them has made a movement to bring that savage war of extermination to an end.

Frank Flemming, of Middletown, N. Y., a prodigal son who had wandered off, concluded he would return and take the old gentleman by surprise. To make the surprise still greater he concluded to climb in through a window. About that time the old man, who thought he was a burglar man, surprised him with a load of buckshot, and was about to give him another when he yelled and told who he was. There were two surprises and the result is that the prodigal is now going around on one leg, the other having been so badly shot that it had to be amputated.

Mrs. Demuth, of Alton, Ill., who for eighteen years has been police matron of her town, several years an officer of the humane society, and for two years probation officer of the county court, rises to express the opinion that men are entirely too lazy and that this is the cause of most of the destitution in this country. We incline to the opinion that she is not far wrong, for very few of us would hustle if we didn't have to.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—India is but the dumping ground for the younger sons of the privileged classes," cried an Englishman of the olden time. It is plain that some think the islands may serve the same purpose for America. —Jacksonville Times Union, Dem.

—It will not be considered any discourtesy if this country pauses long enough in its compliments to royalty to celebrate Washington's birthday. To be sure Washington once warned the American people against foreign entanglements, but that will not prevent the United States from conscientiously meeting the obligations of courtesy and hospitality.—Washington Star, Rep.

—M. Pierre Leroy-Beaulieu, writing in the Revue des Deux Mondes, "sees a certain moral inconsistency between the professions with which we went into war, and the spoils with which we emerged; he even says that the Platt amendment, forced upon the Cubans, was a 'masterpiece of perfidy.'" He is a Frenchman, however, and, of course, does not understand these things.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—If the beet and cane sugar interests of the United States shall succeed in preventing reciprocal trade relations with Cuba they will drive the people of that island from sheer necessity to favor annexation. With annexation would come free trade, and such consequent pushing forward of Cuban industries as might put an end for all time to tariff meddling and Trust extortion. —Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—The protests of the cane sugar interests of Louisiana and the beet sugar interests of the West against reciprocity with Cuba are to be expected and may be called reasonable, but the Philadelphia Record righly characterizes the indignant protest from Hawaii as "sublime cheek." The rights of Hawaii are superior to those of the other islands whose destinies we control only because a few rich Americans own a sugar trust there.—Macon Telegraph, Dem.

— Goldsboro Argus: Another instance of the result of carrying concealed weapons is the death of a promising young man, 20 years of age, this morning at Fremont, in consequence of a pistol shot in the side, received last night on the road about four miles from the town, at the hands of a companion about the same age. The two were on their way to Fremont, Pharaoh Davis, son of Mr. Tom Davis, and Jasper Aimerson, a son of Mr. Hillyard Aimerson, both of Nahunta township, and cousins. On the road a dog assaulted them and Davis drew a pistol, and in attempting to cock it to shoot the dog, the weapon went off, the ball passing through his left hand and penetrating the side of Almerson, from the effects of which wound his death occurred as above stated.

— Laurinburg Exchange: The Rockingham and Hamlet Street Railway Company, with a capital of $150,000, has been incorporated. The object is to construct and operate an electric line for freight and passengers between the two towns. The principal office is to be at Hamlet. —News reached here last Saturday morning that Shadrid Ward, an unmarried negro, 25 years of age, who lived near Rocky Ford, four miles east of Laurinburg, had been shot the night before by some unknown party, who afterwards set fire to his house. A family of negroes living near by heard the report of the gun about 10 o'clock, but heard no other unusal noise. A few minutes later their attention was attracted by the flames from the burning house, but too late to make any attempt to extinguish the fire. Joe Riddley, a negro who worked for Mr R. R. Covington, and who had some trouble with Ward, was suspicioned at once, as he had been heard to make some threats against Ward, and about 12 o'clock Saturday he concluded that things were too warm for him about here, so he made good his escape.

— Scotland Neck Commonwealth: Mr. T. H. Hicks, one Edgecombe's good farmers, says there is considerable cotton in the fields now. The peanut claimed the labors of the strongest men, and the picking of the cotton crop was largely left to the women and children. —— Last week the Commonwealth told of the mysterious disappearance of the old colored man from the premises of Mr. S. F. Dunn. The old man has been found and is back home "safe and sound." Mr. O. K. Taylor in passing saw old man Isaac at Parmele and reported to Mr. Dunn who went there, made search for him and found him. The old man was found in the country some distance from Parmele. He had wandered about ever since leaving home. He says a man and a woman went to his house at night and took him away forcibly and carried him through the woods until he was completely lost; then took him to a road and pointed in the direction they wished him to go. He wandered about and after awhile he turned up at Hamilton, and from there he wandered to Parmele from which place Mr. Dunn first heard from him. Mr. Dunn says nearly all of the old man's money was taken. He found perhaps a dollar or so amongst his effects at home. The colored people at Hamilton took up a collection for him and Mr. Dunn says he had eighteen cents when he found him.

FAUST'S WILD CHARGE.

Cut Marguerite Flying in Terror From the Stage.

"The name of the hero of this anecdote I shall not give you, for he has long since been gathered to his fathers. Suffice that in his heyday he was one of the greatest tenors who ever sang to a breathless and enthusiastic audience. He had a penchant, however, for the red, red wine, which in the end proved his undoing and ultimately provided a pathetic ending for an otherwise great career. In his prime his drinking seemed only to affect his legs, but never his head or voice. He could always sing and sing true, but at times he had no more ability to guide his wandering footsteps than has a sufferer in the last stages of locomotor ataxia.

At one time, when he was singing Faust to Emma Abbott's Marguerite, he appeared at the opera house in an apparently hopeless condition. The management was wild, but there was no one to take his place, and so they had to chance it with him as Faust. All went well until they came to that scene where Faust, in leaving Marguerite, crosses the stage and then, giving way to an impulse, rushes back and kisses Marguerite yet once again ere taking his departure.

Faust on this occasion got to the other side of the stage all right, but trouble arose when he tried to get back. Marguerite sits in the window of her cottage, and Faust comes back and kisses her through the window. Faust measured the distance with a wabbling eye, but made a start when his cue was given. Then he seemed to lose control of himself. One-quarter way across he was trotting, one-half way the trot was a run, and the remainder of the way it had become a gallop.

Up to this point Miss Abbott stood her ground bravely, but that rapidly approaching figure awed her, and with a frightened scream she fled. Faust, poor Faust, charged on. He reached the place he had last seen Marguerite and essayed to clasp the atmosphere in outstretched arms. Then his impetus carried him through the window, and all that the astounded audience looked upon were his waving legs. Somebody pushed him back, and, absolutely undisturbed, he finished the opera, singing in an unusually superb manner. Not so with the unfortunate Marguerite, however, for from then on she was suffering from a case of "rattles," which in simple justice should have been the property of Faust.—New York Tribune.

PRETTY IRISH GIRLS.

Why the Lasses of the Emerald Isle Are Beautiful.

The Irish peasant girls have long been fameus for their beautiful, clear skins and healthy complexions. They owe much of their loveliness to the moisture of the climate and the simplicity of their lives. Plain, wholesome fare and rainwater for the wash basin tell their own tale. No matter how homely are the features of the genuine peasant girl, her skin is almost invariably soft and firm, the arms nicely rounded, the eyes brilliant and expressive.

There are no eyes finer than those of the healthy daughter of Erin's isle. Soft and tender one moment, to flash with passion if aroused; dark blue, gray or brown, the Irish eye is peculiarly lovely and possesses a luster all its own. Long lashes shadow these bewitching orbs—lashes that curl upward to sweep the cheek when the face is betrayed into blushes.

So much time is spent out of doors that the feet, usually bare, become enlarged. The ankle, however, is usually well shaped and neat, the instep high and the skin of baby fineness. The Irish girl of humble station is proud of her shapely feet and believes that walking through the grass before sunrise in summer enhances their beauty, which, of course, it does.

No need to powder that fair skin—it owes its peachy bloom to health, happiness and the freedom of outdoor life; no need to resort to the rouge pot—the roses are there hard and fast, nature's own coloring. The hands may be rough by hard work, not diminutive, but shapely; the hair burnished and often luxuriant.—London Answers.

How to Lie When Sleeping.

The correct posture for sleep is to lie on the right side with the limbs stretched out to their full length and the arms either straight down by the body or in any comfortable position, provided they are not raised above the head. The mouth should be closed, and all the muscles of the body should be relaxed.

The lungs work with greater deliberation during the hours of sleep, and if the arms are raised above the head at this time and for any period the action of the heart drives the blood away from the arms and sends it to the head, frequently making one very restless when it does not prevent sleep entirely. —American Queen.

Having a Purpose In Life.

Ambition to achieve has saved many a man and woman from an early grave. From a health point of view a definite purpose in life, something which the mind is bent on accomplishing, is a factor which is too rarely considered. The will power which holds one to a set task oftentimes wards off physical weakness and weariness better than the drug or medicine which the physician prescribes. "I must accomplish this before I die," has been the expressed purpose of more than one of the world's great workers.—A. S. Atkinson in Woman's Home Companion.

Hard to Please.

"I can't get on with that young woman at all."

"What's the trouble?"

"Oh, she gets mad when I say she's mature, and she gets mad when I say she's immature."—Detroit Free Press.

A Curious Chinese Custom.

According to the rule sanctioned by centuries of Chinese observance, no document can have the authority of the imperial throne of China unless it bears a red spot placed there by the sovereign. To the grand council the tsungli-yamen and all other departments of state take their business, and the grand council in its turn considers all documents and attaches to each a piece of red paper on which its own decision is written. Each morning at daybreak the grand council proceeds to the palace to submit the papers to the sovereign, who as each document is produced signifies approval by making a small spot with a brush on the margin of the red paper. With the red spot upon it the paper is the most sacred thing in the world to a Chinaman; without it it may be torn to shreds with impunity.—Leslie's Weekly.

Out of His Latitude.

He understood all about the sun and the moon and the stars and something about the weather. Indeed, he was popularly supposed to regulate this last, and his indication of probabilities was received as gospel by his admiring fellow citizens in a certain southern colony of Australia. He went to England for a well earned holiday.

He was shown over a celebrated fruit garden there. He was observed to be sniffing about as if something were wrong. They asked him what was the matter. "Well," he replied, "these funny fellows have trained their peach trees against the south side of the wall to get the midday sun instead of against the north."—London Truth.

An Editorial Error.

"Yes," answered Broncho Bill; "but it failed. The editor wouldn't tend to business."

"Was he a dissipated man?"

"No; but he insisted on sitting at his desk with his back to the door when he ought to have been standing with a six shooter in his hand and his eye at a knothole."—Washington Star.

A Long Mile.

The Swedish mile is the longest mile in the world. A traveler in Sweden when told that he is only about a mile from a desired point would better hire a horse, for the distance he will have to walk if he chose in his ignorance to adopt that mode of travel is exactly 11,700 yards.

THE CIRCUS HABIT.

INDIANS HAVE THE WILDEST CRAZE FOR THE TENTED SHOWS.

After the Red Men the Negroes Will Go to the Greatest Lengths to See the Performance, and Third Place Is Held by Chinamen.

"You may talk about your city circus goers," said the old circus man, "but the Indian, the wild, untutored red man of the plains, has got them all beaten to death. There's no circus goer in the world like the North American aborigine. He will travel farther, endure more privations and skimp himself harder to get the price of admission than any other human being in the world. What's more, I believe he really enjoys the circus better than the negro, though he doesn't make any fuss over it.

"The negro, as every circus man knows, will sell the family cook stove to get money to see the elephant, but the Indian will barter off his papoose, his squaw or even his most cherished possession, his horse, to get a ticket. After the negro comes the Chinaman. The Mexicans, too, are not slow in responding to the toot of the calliope. The laziest greaser on the Texas border, who never paid a debt in his life, bobs up promptly on circus day with his 50 cents, though nobody knows where he got it. But the Indian is the greatest circus fiend of all.

"In the west our circus is known among the Indians as 'the heap big brothers' show.' It is the only circus that attracts the red man, and he waits for its yearly appearance as confidently as he awaits the return of spring. In Missoula, Mon., one of our regular stands, fully one-half of the audience is made up of Indians. They come from as far as 200 miles on horseback and even on foot, starting on their long journey days before the circus date and arriving promptly on the morning of the day of exhibition.

"On circus day it is a case of every man for himself with the Indians. The lord of the tepee brings enough trinkets in the shape of moccasins and bows and arrows to peddle around town and in this way gets money for his own admission ticket. His squaw brings willow baskets and has to hustle for her own ticket. They generally come in couples astride of a pony, and if the market is overcrowded with Indian relics they will sell the nag.

"When the show trains arrive in these western towns early in the morning 200 and 300 tents have already been pitched by the Indians, some of which have arrived the night before. Their little colony is almost as interesting as the circus itself. It is a veritable bazaar of relics and papoose exhibitions. While the old squaws are getting breakfast the children are playing games and the chiefs are taking their knickknacks to the market. They are the first ones after the doors of the big tents are opened to land on the blue planks. They fill a good part of the arena, and they never move during the entire performance. Applause is unknown to them. They make as little show of enthusiasm as their brothers in wood in front of the white man's cigar stores. If the trick elephant were to climb the center pole, they would no doubt enjoy the performance, but they would make no more show of surprise than if they were molded from clay. If the performing mule were to walk out on the hippodrome track and make a concert announcement in the Indian tongue, they would only grunt.

"After the show is over the chiefs proceed to fill their skins with the white man's firewater, and the squaws with the papooses wait on the lumber piles till the gray streaks begin to sprout over the hills, when the unsteady train winds out of town over the trail.

"Along the Pacific coast the Chinamen are among the firm friends of the circus people. Like the Indians, they are good patrons of this particular show. In San Francisco at least 50,000 Chinamen saw the circus one season. Some of them came in coaches drawn by handsome horses, and they sat in boxes. Mongolian merchants worth their millions gave matinee parties, the men wearing richly embroidered gowns and the women clad in costly silk cut not in the form of dresses, but as a man wears his broadcloth. At one matinee given in the California city 8,000 Chinese and fully 2,000 Japs attended. The remaining few of the spectators were Americans. The Chinaman is as undemonstrative as the Indian. He expresses his appreciation of the performance by attending time after time.

"Probably the strangest mixture of people that ever attended a circus was found beneath the tent of our show one day at Tucson, A. T., when Indians, Mexicans, greasers, Japs, negroes, Chinamen and a few American cowboys fairly packed the big canvas arena and sat promiscuously mixed over the blue seats. Though the Chinamen and Indians are undemonstrative, the cow punchers, Mexicans and negroes made as much noise that day as was ever made at a frontier massacre. The cowboys yelped like a pack of coyotes when Mme. Noble rode the bucking horse, the Mexicans yelped at every act, and the negroes laughed at the clowns till the earth shook. That night the cowboys and greasers turned the town into a shooting gallery, emptying their revolvers at the stars and manifesting their sorrow at the departure of the circus by licking up all the refreshments in the town.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Age to Marry.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the course of a letter to a young friend who had married, wrote:

"I do indeed congratulate you on changing your isolated condition into the beatific state of duality. The very moment one feels that he is falling into the old age of youth—which I take to be from 25 to 30 in most cases—he must not daily any longer. The first era of his life is not fairly closed, and he may live half his bright days over again if 'woman's pure kiss, sweet and long,' comes only to his lips before it is too late. If he waits till the next epoch of life begins, there is great danger lest he marry his wife as a jockey buys a horse—sensibly, shrewdly and merely as a convenience in his domestic operations."

Investment and Speculation.

When any one is buying a coat or a fishing rod or a rose tree or laying down a cellar or setting up a library, either he knows what he wants, where to get it and what to pay for it or else he takes earnest counsel with his friends and with the most trustworthy professional advisers that he can find and uses all the wits that he and others can bring to bear on the subject in order to make sure that his purchase is prudently conducted. He attends sales, rummages in shops and discusses the matter in his club until he and it are voted a nuisance.

If only half as much time and trouble were devoted to the careful selection of investments, there would be fewer bad companies, unscrupulous promoters and ornamental directors, the world would be very much richer, and its riches would show less tendency to gravitate into questionable hands.—Cornhill Magazine.

Modest Womanhood

A becoming modesty keeps many afflicted women from consulting a doctor about female diseases and the fear of an unnecessary surgical operation keeps many others away. In this way the poor suffering woman who longs for relief but shrinks from seeking it, gives up in despair. But hundreds of thousands of women in this country to-day, like Mrs. Steele, know that there is no need of giving up—that there is a positive home cure for female diseases within the reach of every modest woman.

WINE OF CARDUI

made life worth living for Mrs. Steele, when the best doctors in Illinois could not help her without an operation from which she recoiled with horror. If you are despondent, suffering female ills and bearing pain, go to your druggist and buy a bottle of Wine of Cardui. It will relieve you.

Peoria, Ill., April 5, 1901.

I have been a sufferer every month since I have been a woman and have been treated by the best doctors and found no relief. The last doctor wanted me to go to the hospital and have my ovaries removed. He said: "This is the only remedy I can see for you, Mrs. Steele." "No, no, I will not," I said. Then I found a Ladies' Birthday Almanac and this is the way I found relief and I am not butchered up by the doctor. I don't wait for my woman friends to see your advertisement, but I go and tell them. I can't speak good enough for this wonderful Wine of Cardui. I am a strong woman and do all my work and ride my bicycle. I send word to ladies I hear are suffering and I saved one lady from losing her baby by giving her Wine of Cardui Mrs. B. M. STEELE.

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

Two Unusual Epitaphs.

A Charleston churchyard contains the dust of many eminent men and several queer epitaphs. The tombstone of Mary Ann Luyten is a cedar bedstead that has stood the ravages of 131 years. The epitaph of Charlotte Elford, who died on May 9, 1817, says that

She was

In Childhood,	Obedient.
In Wedlock,	Virtuous.
In Prosperity,	Humble.
In Adversity,	Resigned.
In Sickness,	Patient.
In Death,	Happy.

Another curious one is that of John Singleton, who died Sept. 10, 1789:

Sacred and solemn
To
The memory of 1 in 4 and 4 in 1.
A husband, father, grandfather and father-in-law.

Lilacs Are Imported.

The common lilac, which is known to botanists as Syringa vulgaris, has been in cultivation for over 300 years, and its native home is said to be on the mountainous regions of central Europe, from Piedmont to Hungary, whence it was introduced to cultivation in 1597.

Botanists recognize about 12 species of lilacs, found in a wild state, and these are native from southwestern Europe through central Asia and the Himalayas to Mongolia, northern China and Japan. None of the species is a native of the American continent.

Just In Time.

An Irish gentleman getting upon a street car found one place vacant, which he proceeded to occupy.

"Sure," said he, with a twinkle in his eye, "I came just in the nick of time."

"How is that?"

"Arrah! If I was to come now, I shouldn't find a seat in the car!"—Exchange.

You can generally tell when a man is talking to a woman over the telephone by the tone of voice he assumes.—Nashville Banner.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranted by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB 1.

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY ARRIVES IN NASHVILLE.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 31.—Admiral and Mrs. Schley are the guests of Nashville to-night, and the city is in holiday attire in their honor. The decorated union station was packed to suffocation with a mass of cheering humanity as the train bearing the admiral and his wife rolled in. The crowds had been warned of its approach by the roar of the admiral's salute from Capitol Hill and the screech of whistles from every quarter. Bands in the station added to the noise, and when the visitors stepped from the car the roar was deafening, while the scene was an inspiring one. Knights Templar, in full uniform, were there to bid their brother knight welcome, and together with the committee from the Retail Merchants' Association escorted the admiral and Mrs. Schley to a carriage drawn by four white horses, the start being made for the Duncan hotel, where the visitors will stop while in Nashville, with but little delay. The streets along the route were lined with enthusiastic throngs. Acknowledging the shouts of welcome the visitors proceeded into the hotel and to their rooms, where they will spend a quiet evening preparatory to a busy day to-morrow.

Along the route from Louisville it was the same at every station, crowds and cheers and flags. At every stop the admiral smilingly shook hands with those who crowded about his car. He had a pleasant word for all, but no speeches were indulged in.

NOTED SWINDLER CAPTURED.

U. M. Baumgardner Wanted in Durham, N. C., to Answer Charge of Embezzlement—Other Crimes.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLOTTE, January 31.—A special from Durham, N. C., to the Observer says:

U. G. Baumgardner was arrested in Cincinnati this afternoon and is wanted here on a charge of embezzling $400 from Mrs. J. H. Freeland. He is also wanted in Richmond, Va., on a charge of stealing $2,100 from the same woman, and it is said that he is wanted in Lynchburg and Alexandria, Va., and other places, for similar offences.

Baumgardner came here a little more than two years ago from Lynchburg, and during the year that he was in Durham was a high-roller, driving fast horses, spending much time on the race tracks, gambling, and with women. He operated a number of slot machines in this city and elsewhere.

In connection with the alleged embezzlement from Mrs. Freeland there is a story of a ruined and wrecked home. He boarded with the family of Mr. Freeland, a well to do citizen and at one time a prominent business man. He soon gained the confidence of every member of the family and persuaded Mrs. Freeland to put $400 in his business. It is this money that he is charged with embezzling.

Soon after this he left here with Mrs. Freeland, who deserted her husband and children and went to Richmond. She drew from the bank some $3,500 which had been deposited in her name by her husband. Soon after reaching Richmond, Mrs. Freeland was taken quite ill and she claims that Baumgardner took from her trunk $2,100 and left. Since then, about a year ago, until now, the authorities have been looking for him in this country and Canada. True bills for embezzlement in this city and larceny in Richmond have been found against him by the grand jury. He will be brought here for trial and later made to face the Richmond authorities.

THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

British Reply to the Dutch Note Dispatched to The Hague—Its Contents Kept Strictly Secret.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The British reply to the Dutch note in regard to bringing about peace in South Africa was dispatched yesterday to The Hague. The contents of the note are kept strictly secret, as the first publication of the text is intended to be made in Parliament on Monday, February 3rd. The Associated Press has reason to believe, however, that its original summary of the Dutch communication was correct, with this addition, that the Dutch suggested that Wessels, Wolmarans and Fischer, the Boer delegates now in Europe, be permitted to go to South Africa in an endeavor to persuade the Burghers in the field to surrender.

Great Britain's reply is not in the nature of a direct negative, though it is not unlikely that it will have that effect. While Lord Lansdowne probably will leave a loophole for further suggestions, he doubts the ability of the Boer delegates to control their fellow countrymen, and there seems little likelihood that the Dutch government can secure guarantees, in regard to the powers of the Boer delegates, sufficient to induce Great Britain to accede to the original request.

MORGAN DISCUSSED PHILIPPNE TARIFF.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

Threatened Invasion by the Senate of Its Prerogative in the Matter of Revenue Legislation Under Consideration—Resolution Adopted.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—An extended speech upon the pending Philippine tariff bill was delivered in the Senate to day by Senator Morgan, of Alabama. While he discussed in a general way the pending measure, he devoted his attention particularly to an amendment to it which he offered last week. He maintained that the enactment of the bill as it stands now would not be a constitutional remedy for the situation which the measure is designed to relieve, but with the adoption of his amendment the bill would stand the closest scrutiny of the courts. The Alabama Senator did not discuss the political phases of the Philippine question, devoting his entire speech to a consideration of the legal and constitutional questions raised by the presentation of the tariff measure.

An hour and a half was devoted to the consideration of a measure providing for the increase of the salaries of judges of United States courts, but no action was taken on the bill.

The bill was opposed by Senator Berry, Arkansas, and Senator Blackburn, Kentucky, the former saying many people thought the justices were not worth $10,000 a year. Senators Spooner, Wisconsin; McComas, Maryland; Hawley, Connecticut, and Fairbanks, Indiana, supported the increase.

When the Philippine tariff bill was taken up, Senator Morgan argued that Congress had no constitutional authority to levy a discriminating tariff either upon imports or exports between the United States and the Philippines. "I believe in the doctrine of free trade in all parts of the United States, whether covered by the constitution, the flag, or both," he said.

Senator Morgan contended that an export duty is plainly forbidden, even though, in the case of the Philippines, the duty was levied there.

Speaking of the claims which had been made that there was no lawful government in the Philippines, Mr. Morgan with great earnestness said there is a government there and he was glad to say a very good government, suitable to the character of those people and the circumstances in which we found them.

Senator Morgan, in referring to the work of the Philippine commission, their personality and ability, paid a tribute to the late President McKinley, who, he said, was the happiest man in the world in making selections of men for responsible positions.

At one point Senator Tillman asked: "Did you say we are in the Philippines with the consent of those people?"

Senator Morgan replied, saying that he did not propose to be interrupted just for the amusement of the Senator from South Carolina. Senator Morgan urged the establishment of an executive department for the control of the Philippines.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

House of Representatives.

The House to-day prepared to defend itself against what it considers the threatened invasion by the Senate of its prerogative in the matter of revenue legislation by directing the Ways and Means Committee to investigate the subject and report to the House its conclusions. The action of the House was the outgrowth of the agitation in the Senate of the claim that reciprocity treaties affecting the customs revenue can be negotiated without the concurrence of the House.

The resolution adopted was the Tawney resolution. It was reported to the House by Mr. Dalzell from the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Dalzell said that the question involved one of the highest and most sacred privileges of the House. As it concerned the relations between the two houses he thought action should be deliberately taken after the subject had been duly considered by a committee.

Mr. Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, also a member of the Committee on Rules, joined with Mr. Dalzell in urging the adoption of the resolution. The settlement of the disputed question in favor of the House, he said, was necessary if the lower house expected to preserve its constitutional prerogative.

The resolution was adopted without division.

Mr. Dalzell followed this resolution with another from, the same committee, to make the oleomargarine bill a special order for Monday next, to continue until disposed of.

Mr. Richardson, Tennessee, the minority leader, saw no reason why this piece of legislation should be picked out and given priority over other bills.

Mr. Underwood, Alabama, was opposed to the proposed legislation and declared that its opponents should begin the fight now on the adoption of the special order.

Mr. Grosvenor, Ohio, also declared himself uncompromisingly opposed to the proposed legislation and all kindred legislation.

On roll call the special order was adopted—132 to 71.

Mr. Richardson, Tennessee, presented as a matter of privilege a resolution reciting the pendency in the Senate of commercial treaties and bills affecting customs duties and revenues, and declaring it to be the sense of the House that such treaties and bills invaded one of the highest prerogatives of the House.

Mr. Payne, the majority floor leader, made the point of order that the resolution was not privileged. He contended that until the Senate actually sent to the House a bill or negotiated a treaty which invaded the rights of the House, nothing had been done which constituted a matter of privilege here.

Mr. Richardson, however, contended that the House should not wait until an overt act was committed. He cited the report made to the House by the late Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, and that made to the Senate by Senator Allison and the late Senator Vorhees in support of his contention.

Speaker Henderson pointed out that Mr. Richardson's resolution did not contain a single averment that there had been an actual assault on the rights of the House, and ruled that the resolution was not privileged.

The House adjourned.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE FIRE AT NORFOLK.

The Loss Will Approximate $900,000. Half Covered by Insurance—No Loss of Life.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, Va., January 31.—A heap of smoking ruins is all that remains to-day of the Atlantic hotel, the massive Columbia office building, which adjoins the hotel, the Albemarle flats and a block of stores in the centre of the city. The conflagration, one of the greatest in the history of Norfolk, broke out shortly before 2 o'clock this morning and when finally subdued over half a million dollars' worth of property had been destroyed. The loss is believed to be fully covered by insurance. The flames started in the Columbia, which is the largest but one of Norfolk's office buildings. It was a structure six stories high and was built in 1892 by Davis Lowenberg, its proprietor. The fire was first discovered at 1:55 o'clock this morning and very soon afterwards over one thousand gallons of whiskey stored in the building exploded with terrific force, tearing out the front wall. The firemen were driven back by the explosion and before they could get a stream of water on the flames the entire building was afire. Hardly fifteen minutes later the north wall, which was over seventy-five feet high, fell in, completely annihilating the home of the Virginia Club, which adjoins the building on the north.

No Loss of Life

From the outset it was evident that the immense Atlantic Hotel was doomed. J. Hull Davidson, its proprietor, personally made the rounds of the rooms and aided by his assistants aroused every guest in the building. To this is due the fact that so far as known no life was lost, although about 300 people were asleep in the hotel when the alarm was sounded. The little army of half-dressed men and women refugees from the flames elbowed their way through the crowded streets. In their hands they carried such small belongings as they were able to save in their flight.

The flames soon spread to the five story Albemarle apartment house, opposite the Virginia Club, which was quickly destroyed, and then to the entire block facing the Atlantic and running from Plume to Main streets. Within an hour this block was annihilated.

The flames finally were subdued through the hard work of the fire department and the shifting of the wind, which veered to the northeast just as the fire had gotten a grasp on the big department store of Watt, Rettew & Clay. Live coals rained on the Merchants and Miners and Bay Line warehouses, the piers and the wholesale notion store buildings of Talbot, Dudson & Grady and driving the Western Union operators from their offices in the Dodson building. All these structures were saved. The fire was subdued at 5 o'clock this morning.

Origin Not Known.

The origin of the fire is not known. The blaze was first discovered in Brown's cafe, which occupies half of the Columbia building, by a policeman, who immediately turned in the alarm. The whiskey which exploded was in this cafe. All the Atlantic hotel guests escaped, though J. O. Ready, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had a close call. The Watts, Rettew & Clay building was saved, although the stock was damaged by water.

In the Atlantic hotel building were the ticket offices of the Southern, Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western railways; the offices of Nottingham & Wrenn, wood and coal dealers; the Equitable Life Assurance Company; Dodson's drug store; Vermillion's liquor store, and Solomonky's tailoring establishment. In the Columbia building were the cafes of C R Brown and Needs; the offices of D. Lowenberg, the owner, and of numerous real estate firms, lawyers, physicians, architects, and contractors. In the block destroyed with the Albemarle were Johnston's china store; Cary & Dean, tailors; Motter, DeWitt & Co., brokers; Stevenson & Taylor, brokers; the Norfolk and Western foreign freight department and the office of the Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia Air Line. While in most cases valuable private papers were saved, a large quantity of personal property of unknown value was lost. The loss to the owners of the Atlantic hotel is about $240,000, covered by insurance and of the Columbia building $90,000, on which there was $35,000 insurance. The Virginia Club was a fashionable institution and its quarters were handsomely furnished.

Loss About $900,000.

The loss will approximate $900,000, possibly half covered by insurance. The buildings burned were:

The Atlantic hotel, for which with its site, Mr. C. M. Randolph, who is associated with Mr. R. Lancaster Williams, of Richmond, in the Ocean View railroad, recently paid $310,000.

The Columbia building, which cost $50,000; everything in the offices in the building destroyed; loss over $100.000.

The Albemarle apartment house, owned by Mr George L. Arps; valued at about $25,000.

The Johnston China Company, with a costly stock, occupied the ground floor, and lost $10,000. The building, owned by Mr. C. W. Sams, was valued at $12,000.

Mottu, DeWitt & Company, bankers and brokers, occupied two floors of the building and lost valuable papers.

The building owned by Mrs. Sarah Allmond and occupied by Stevenson & Taylor, real estate and other tenants, loss $10,000.

L B Carey, merchant tailor, $10,000.

L. G. Blick, florist, and three buildings on Plume street in rear of the Virginia Club, $20,000.

BIDDLE BROTHERS WERE RECAPTURED

After a Desperate Fight With Their Pursuers, Detectives and Sheriff's Officers.

WOMAN TOOK PART IN FIGHT.

Ed Biddle Mortally Wounded—His Brother Riddled With Buckshot—Mrs. Soffel When She Saw She Would be Captured Shot Herself.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, PA., Jan. 31.—Edward Biddle in jail dying, John Biddle riddled with buckshot and in a precarious condition, and Mrs. Peter K. Soffel lying in the hospital with a self-inflicted bullet wound in the breast, is the sequel of the sensational escape of the Biddle brothers from the Allegheny county jail, aided by Mrs. Soffel, the wife of the jail warden, on Thursday morning. The story of the close of the Biddle tragedy, which came at 5:45 P. M., is a thrilling one.

The scene was a snow covered road about two miles east of Prospect, Butler county, near Mount Chestnut, and the exact place was at McClure's barn, where two double-team sleighs, filled with eight officers, three of them Pittsburg detectives—John Roach, Albert Swinehart and Charles McGovern—met the two Biddles in a one-horse sleigh, stolen at Perrysville, and at once opened fire on the trio.

The Biddles returned the fire, after jumping out of the sleigh. Mrs Soffel's wound was through the breast. Edward Biddle was shot in the left arm, in the breast and in one leg. John Biddle was riddled with buckshot in the breast and head.

The Chase

The Pittsburg officers were met at Butler this afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Rainey and Boon and Officers Frank Holliday and Aaron Thompson, the latter under command of Chief of Police Robert Ray, of Butler. The officers were certain that they were on the right trail. It was only a question of time when they would catch up with the escaping condemned murderers and their companion.

The Biddles and Mrs. Soffel ate dinner at J. J. Stephens' at Mt. Chestnut, five miles east of Butler. They had made a detour of the town of Butler and after going several miles east they turned north and then west. The Pittsburg officers, only a few miles in the rear, took the wrong road for about eight miles, but when they found out their mistake they made up for lost time by telephoning and telegraphing ahead for fresh horses. They reached Mt. Chestnut not less than half an hour after the Biddles and Mrs. Soffel. At this point William Watson, a store keeper, had fresh horses awaiting them, and the chase for life began anew.

The two sleighs with the eight officers started westward and met the Biddles and Mrs. Soffel at McClure's barn, two miles from Mount Prospect, the Biddles having learned that they were almost overtaken, and taking what they thought the only chance, they drove eastward and met their doom.

Officers Shot to Kill.

The Pittsburg and other officers were armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers of large calibre. They shot to kill and their aim was perfect. The Biddles tried to kill to the last of their string, but not one of the eight officers has a wound as the result of the battle.

When the detectives got within about sixty yards of the fugitives they opened fire. The Biddles promptly answered with shot-gun and revolvers. Mrs. Soffel, too, stood up in the sleigh with a revolver in each hand and blazed away at her pursuers. When Ed. Biddle fell and she saw she was about to be captured, she fired a bullet into her breast. An examination by physicians shows that she will recover, as the bullet was deflected by her corset and the wound is comparatively slight.

Ed. Biddle got a bullet in the breast, which penetrated his right lung and will probably end his life before morning. John Biddle may recover; his wounds, though numerous, failing to reach a vital spot. The escape of the officers is miraculous. The Biddles have demonstrated on several occasions that they are good marksmen and why they should have failed to bring down their men is a mystery.

After the Biddles fell to the snow-covered ground the officers picked up the apparently lifeless bodies of Mrs. Soffel and the Biddles and came back to Butler, bringing the stolen sleigh, patched up harness and worn out horse that the trio had tried so strenuously to get away with toward Canada and liberty.

Ed. Biddle's Statement.

At the jail to-night Ed. Biddle called for a priest and made the following statement:

"I have been accused of a great many serious crimes. I admit that I could have committed many, the opportunities for them having presented themselves. I want to say now that I did not kill Detective Fitzgerald nor did I shoot Thomas Kahney, nor was my brother implicated in the latter affair. Mrs. Soffel aided us in getting out of the county jail and had it not been for her we would have made our escape to-day. She gave up everything for us and I was bound to back her.

"I told her that I was guiltless of the crime for which I was about to be executed and she was impressed and yielded to my suggestion. I planned it."

Biddle showed signs of collapse and made a feeble effort to signal the priest. Father Walsh administered the solemn last rites of the dying and Biddle rolled over on his face and sighed. He was asked if wanted any word taken to his brother, and he shook his head, "No."
